The multi-flat dwelling house is constructed according to the principles of a limited architecture, which means that a person is tightly connected with naturally created forms and volumes. Such environmentally friendly and well-proven materials as glass, wood, metal, decorative plastering are used for the decoration of this modern building. Every flat on the first three storeys has a balcony, whereas a mansard floor has a big terrace where you can enjoy a fantastic view of the sun sinking in the sea at the sunset and a pine tree forest. Every flat is designed to have high and wide French windows (floor to the ceiling), which create an impression of merging into the nature so beautiful every season and for every mood. The House and territory are equipped with 45 video cameras. The entrance to territory is possible only for apartments inhabitants, by means of chips and distance control gadgets. There is a guard at the building as well as connection to security service which ensures arrival in case of alert. There is also fire prevention system (sprinkler system with alert and call to security service) in the basement and space of common use.
